Consul-General Lee finds that the Spanish Government has in many instances been entirely impotent in its efforts to protect either the lives of foreigners resident in the island or their fully occupied in the field in resisting the

The Consul-General hints, finally, that has been some criticism of Consul-General Lee because, immediately after his arrival at Habans, he accepted the inviarrival at Habana, he accepted the invi-tation to a banquet at the palace, which he received from Captain-General Wey-ler. The criticism is unjustifiable. Gene-ral Lee was not sent to Cuba as an enemy of Spain, or for the purpose of stir-ring up bad blood between the Govern-ment of Spain and that of the United States. He was not sent there to find fault with Weyler, or with his adminis-trative policy, or with the conduct of States. He was not sent there to find fault with Weyler, or with his administrative policy, or with the conduct of the war. When, therefore, the authoritative representative of Spain invited him, as a newly-arrived American official, to a palace entertainment, it was but a matter of courtesy that he should honor the invitation. So long as the two countries are at peace with each other it is destrable that the officers of both of them should maintain a good understanding with one another. It would have been discourteous in General Lee to act otherwise than he acted. He would have been placed at a disadvantage during his stay in Cuba, and would have been lessable to perform his perplexing duties had he acted otherwise. He might even have given offence to the imperious Spanish functionary who has been intrusted with power in Cuba. It may be said that Cuban affairs were not the subject of debate at the banquet, though it is known that General Lee took occasion to present a request to his host in the interest of an American who had good cause of corplaint.

the American would have been more discrete if he had refrained from laudation of Weyler's military record in Cuba; but it is desirable that no particular gravity should be attributed to the words that were uttered by either party at a first meeting. It is also to be understood that General Lee seized this opportunity for transacting a piece of business with Weyler.

In the formal instructions given to the Consul-General before he left Washington for Habana, he was more particularly enjoined to be regardful of the lives, the rights, and the interests of American citizens resident in Cuba; and it must be said that he has striven to perform his duty in this respect. The State campaign opened at Manning this morning. It was the last day on which candidates for the several State offices could come out, and the chief interest centered in the race for the United States senatorship.

For some days the outlook as to the race has changed almost every hour. To-day Governor Evans appeared at Manning as the only avowed candidate. It was said that Congressman McLaurin, Raliroad-Commissioner Evans, Judge Joseph H. Earle, and many other candidates were coming out against him. The day brought forth a surprise. Mr. John J. Duncan, a young man from Newberry, after Evans had made his statement in regard to the bond scandal, announced his candidacy. Judge Earle's candidacy was announced, but shortly afterward he withdrew from the race.

Evans made a statement of his connection with the bond scandal at great leng. In the recused the history of the bond acts, but dended that he had anything whatsever to do with their passing through the Legislature. He said he had acted as the agent of Rhind, the man who formed the syndicate, and who is said to have divised his spoils with people of influence in the General Assembly and State Government.

He was severe upon S. A. B. Williams, whose article in the New York Times has caused the bond business to be the aensation of the hour. He said there was no necessity for any one of political influence being bought up by the syndicate. He could not see how any fair-minded person in South Carolina could assert that he had been guilty of any wrong-doing in accepting a fee for his services.

To night Coloned John C. Haskell, who is referred to in the several statements recently made about the bond matter, is out in an interview declaring that John S. Williams, one of the members of the syndicate, had said to him and others that Rhind, using no names, had stated that he (Rhind) could not allow as much commission as was expected, because a large portion of it "had to be paid to parties whose services and

NEW YORK, June 22.-The thirteenth Suburban Handleap will be run at Sheepshead Bay to-morrow. The Suburban and the first division of the double event will be the star attractions of the opening day of the Coney Island Jockey Club's spring meeting.

As a matter of course, the Suburban is the event around which the most interest centres. The indications are that a small field will do battle for the coveted prize-Not more than seven horses will go to the This will be one more than last

He won the Brooklyn Handleap by a fluke, and, although a victory for Lakeland would be a popular event, and a big thing for the Brighton Beach contingent, it would be the height of folly to back him to beat such horses as Henry of Navarre and Clifford. He may have a chance to get third money, after a battle with Belmar and Sir Walter.

NANKIPOOH AND HANDSPRING. Nankipooh has won a race this season, but his performance in the Brooklyn Handleap would not warrant any one's supporting him in the Suburban. The company will, if there is not a glaring reversal of form, be entirely too good for him.

Handspring, some say, may go to the post. Handspring is not within many pounds of his best form, and, besides, if he were not state, it would be asking too much of a 3-year-old to pick up 115 pounds, and beat older horses of such calibre as Henry of Navarre and Clifford. The entries for all the events but the fifth are light. Only eight are colored for the double event, and these do not include Don de Oro, George Kessler, Eldoion, or any of the cracks. Octagon will carry the Blemton colors in place of Don de Oro, Glimmering will be the Erie stables' standard-bearer. Marcus Erte stables' standard-bearer Daly will depend upon Scottish Chiefrain, and Trowbridge & Co. will send Lithos, the Morris cast-off, to the post.

As for the sound-money minority, it will content itself with a protest against the silver plank, but according to the present programme, there will be no both. Leading Democrats, of whom Postmaster Hesing, of Chicago, is the most conspicuous, are flocking in this morning from all over the State to look over the field, but they are without weight or influence, save in exhorting the minority to keep a stiff upper lip and not permit the Altgeld programme to go by default. gramme to go by default.
BOIES BOOMERS.

BOIES BOOMERS.

The advance guard of the Boles boom put in an appearance early this morning in the person of Editor Samuel E. Brewster, of Creston, Is., a Boles delegate to Chicago. He will be joined by Secretary Waish and other Hawkeye State Democrats. It did not take Editor Brewster very long, however, to reach the conclusion that there was no earthly hope of his candidate's receiving the endorsement of the convention. In fact, he was plainly told that while the leaders of the Dinois machine had nothing against Horace Boies, yet it was not on the programme to give even a quasi endorsement to any to give even a quasi endorsement to a candidate. The entire Illinois delegation so Mr. Brewster was notified, would go to Chicago prepared to take advantage of opportunities, and would follow the finger of Governor Alfgeld with as much fidelity as was manifested by the Colorado delegation last week towards Senator Teller. At the same time, he was assured that there was nothing in the story sent out from here last night, that the Altgeld brigade had settled upon Governor geld brigade had settled upon Governor Stone, of Missouri, and Clark Howell, of Georgia, as the presidential ticket to be championed by the Illinois Gelegation.

This story, as explained to the Southern Associated Press representative this morning, grew out of a letter received late last night by Governor Altgeld from Governor Stone, in which the latter urged the indorsement of Mr. Bland by the convention. To this, the reply was returned that such a course would be inexpedient, and that no names or preferences would be mentioned in the convention.

As to the story that ex-Governor Boles had lost caste with Governor Altgold because, in a speech shortly after the Chicago labor troubles, he had approved the sending of Federal troops to that city, it was declared to be untrue.

it was declared to be untrue.

The silverites on the ground—and they are coming in with a rush—are jubilant over the accession to their ranks of Assemblyman O'Donnell, of Bloomington. Up to a week ago he was confited with the sound-money advocates, but he admitted this morning that, governed by the sentiment in his district, and in which he is a power, no other course was open to him but to get alongside the 16 to 1 banner.

Perhaps the most significant feature of the gathering of the Democratic class for to-morrow's State convention is a strong undercurrent of sentiment in favor of the endorsement of Senator Teller as a presidential candidate, more as cut-and-out. undercurrent of sentiment in favor of the endorsement of Senntor Teller as a presidential candidate, upon an out-and-out free-coinage piatform, by the national convention. There is no question that were a Teller resolution introduced it would receive the support of quite a respectable following, but the suggestion is antagonized by the Altgeld machine. The slate for delegates-at-large, as agreed upon, is headed by the Governor himself, with Secretary Hinrichsen, Judge Sam, P. McConnell, of Chicago, and General Lewis B. Parsons, of Florida, as his associates. The latter is 89 years of age, and has a very creditable war record. For a quarter of a century he has lived in retirement, farming and preaching free silver, but proposes to take the national stump in the coming campaign.

Thomas H. Gahan, of Chicago, has been slated to succeed National-Committeeman Ben, T. Cable.

Platform to Be Short-Cleveland to

Be Ignored. COLUMBUS, O., June 22.-As the advance guard of the delegates to the Democratic State Convention arrives it seems that the sentiment for free-silver coinage is even stronger than was anticipated. It is almost impossible to find an advocate of the single-gold standard among the Savannah capitalists. The company will employ 400 to 500 hands.

New York.—The barkentine E. S. Powell, Captain Hodgkinson, which cleared Sunday for Charleston, S. C., in ballest, teturned in tow of the tug Leonard Richards and reported that about twelve miles southeast of the Highlands she was run into by the American ship Iroquola, of Bath, Me., from Honolulu for New York, sugar-laden.

Knoxville, Tenn.—Interesting exercises were held in the rooms of the Chamber of Commerce, when the people of Knox county presented to the State of Tennessee a block of Tennessee marble to be presented by Governor Turney to the State of Nebraska for the purpose of erecting a monument at Lincoln in memory of Abraham Lincoln.

Candidate to Be Given-Silverites

Jabilant.

PEORIA, H.L., June 22.—Save in the matter of political complexion (no Democratic State Convention to-morrow will be a reproduction on a miniature scale of the gathering of Republican hosts at St. Louis. The silver interest is as much in control as was that of the gold-standardites there, and Governor Altgeld is the Mark Hanna of the occasion. He will designate the delegates to Chicago, draft the platform, indicate his preference for nominations on the State ticket, and whatever he says and does will be accepted without murmuring.

Sunday's Trilby.

Sunday morning, promptly at 8:30, this Triby Excursion for Norfolk, Virginia Beach, and Ocean View left the Union Depot, well filled with excursionists, and it is needless to say that they all enjoyed a pleasant day, free from the extreme heat of the city. The bathing could not heat of the city. The bathing could not have been better, and a great many of the party also enjoyed a bath in the surf. As the season advances these excursional grow in popularity, as shown by yesterday's train, which had the largest crowd of the season. The management was all that could be expected. There will be another Trilby next Sunday, the 25th.
